Rousing Meeting Is Held In Reno

Governor Cox Talks to Immense Audience at Rialto

It was an intensely interested, thoughtful audience that listened to Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, at the Rialto theater, Reno, last night.

The house was packed to the limit, even the aisles and foyer being filled with people anxious to hear the distinguished speaker.

There were delegations present from all the towns of western Nevada, even Tonopah and Goldfield being represented. Carson sent over a big crowd in the special which left here at 6 o'clock and all were accorded seats on the platform.

Governor Cox's train arrived at Sparks early in the evening, where he made quite a talk, afterwards with a few guests he had supper in his private car, but when the time arrived to depart for Reno the tracks between that place and Sparks were so congested with traffic that his train was unable to advance, therefore compelling the sending out of an auto to Sparks to bring him into Reno. This necessarily made the speech-making a little late, but irrespective of this fact the audience retained its patience and sat quietly until the candidate's party arrived.

It was about 8:45 when the party came on the stage from the side entrance of the theater, and as soon as Governor Cox hove in sight the vast assemblage rose to its feet and paid him a rousing tribute.

As soon as that quieted State Chairman Kunz assumed charge and in a few words introduced Senator Henderson, who had been selected as chairman of the meeting. The senator made but a brief talk in presenting Governor Cox, but it was full of meat, timely to the occasion, and was regarded by its hearers as one of the best addresses the senator ever delivered in Nevada.

Following his presentation Governor Cox entered upon his subject and almost before his first sentences had been uttered he had captured the attention of everyone and it is safe to say that during its duration, fully an hour, not a dozen people left the house. There was but one interruption from the audience and that was of a humorous nature. It was when Governor Cox asked, "Where does Senator Harding stand on the League of Nations?" and quick as a flash from the gallery came the answer, "On his head."

Governor Cox dealt with many subjects in his address and it is to be regretted that the Appeal's columns will not permit its re-production in full.

He talked of the progressive measures that had made his own state, Ohio, the exemplar of the nation and said the legislation that had been worked out there and enforced could be made applicable to the whole country; he compared the progressives of the Democratic party to the reactionaries of the opposition, and he did not mince words when he referred to Senator Harding as the puppet of the "senate oligarchy" and charged that his nomination was arranged at a meeting held in a Chicago hotel by that coterie in the "wee sma" hours of the morning of the day the nomination was made and that Senator Harding was hailed before the conference and given private audience before a determination was arrived at. Were promises exacted from him? The answer to that was left to the judgment of the audience.

Governor Cox touched on the Federal Reserve and said were the Republican ticket elected it could be expected that the banking system of the United States would again be turned over to Wall Street. He reiterated his charge that the Republicans were endeavoring to build up an immense campaign fund and produced official documents to substantiate his assertion.

It was in his talk on the League of Nations, however, that Governor Cox made his strongest impressions and there is hardly a doubt that by his interpretation of it and in his statement that if elected he would see to it that the United States joined the league he won the judgment and support of hundreds in the audience. In leading off on this subject the governor said:

"I promise you that as soon after my inauguration on March 4th as it is humanly possible to do so, and with as little senatorial discussion as possible, I will enter the United States of America in the League of Nations of the world."

Governor Cox in discussing the different objections advanced against the League of Nations said: "Now what is the objection to the treaty? In the main it is this that we will be drawn into every difference and controversy in Europe and that our soldier boys will be sent over with each difficulty that arises in the affairs of Europe or Asia or Africa or the other continental divisions. There isn't a school boy nor a school girl in America but who knows that the power to declare war is lodged with congress. The president hasn't any more right to send your boys over than you have and not so much. The fathers who created this scheme of government unquestionably were inspired, and while it is a government of free people and while officers are given certain representative capacities, there are balances and checks found everywhere.

"The president has a right to make a treaty. The senate has the right to reject or ratify it. The president is commander in chief of the army and navy, but only congress made up of representatives of the people can declare war. "Need I remind you that in April, 1917, in the face of all of the provocation, after we had gone down to the last ditch of forbearance, the president, in recitation of our grievances, had to present himself before congress and say to the members of both branches of congress, 'I believe it is your duty to declare war.' The president was without any authority whatever.

"No league can send our soldiers over seas! no president can do it—only congress can do it. And congress is more safely buttressed now in the ways and ideals of peace than it has ever been before because congress has in part a new boss now. The mother thought of America will be consulted in the future. There is not a high school boy or girl but knows perfectly well that no treaty made by the president and ratified by the senate can contravene the provisions of the constitution of the country. Therefore, there is absolutely no danger of your boys being ordered overseas without your consent.

"These are the facts with reference to the League of Nations. But I have the faith that the American people will render a verdict this fall without regard to partisan conviction, that will carry a lesson long to be remembered by politicians of all political parties. I ask you only to consult your conscience. I ask no Democratic man or woman to vote for me because I am the candidate of that party. We must vote as Americans. Our intelligences must sway us. We must consult our conscience because after all it is the voice of God and if you do that then the mandate will have been so impressive that politicians in the future will know better than to stand in the way of normal development of civilization and free government of and for and by the people will have been vindicated. War will have been rendered practically impossible and mothers of America can contemplate the future with the security they have known nothing about for a long time. Civilization will have been saved and the genius of our fathers who placed their questions in the last analysis in the hands of our great elec-

N. Y. Explosion Anarchists' Work

List of Dead Has Been Brought Up to Thirty-five

(By United Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Authorities today are dividing efforts between seeking those responsible for yesterday's bomb explosion and guarding against a repetition. They are convinced it was the work of anarchists, and that it was only the beginning of a carefully planned reign of terror. The death list has increased to thirty-three through the succumbing of more of the injured. Thomas Lelahumy revealed today that Edward Fischer, a missing former employee of the French high commission, warned him two weeks ago that Wall Street would be blown up on the 16th.

(By United Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—It was "business as usual" in Wall Street today. The nation's money mart resumed operations just as if the explosion, which spread death and destruction at Broad and Wall streets at noon yesterday, had never occurred. The human tide of men and women flowed past and there was a steady shuffle of feet over pavements from which bloodstains had been washed.

(By United Press) HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 17.—Edward Fischer, believed to have knowledge of the Wall Street bomb outrage, was arrested here today. He is believed to be insane. He is alleged to have sent postcards to Toronto friends in New York warning them of the explosion. Fischer's arrest was caused by his brother-in-law, Robert Pope, who arrived here today from New York. Pope offered an explanation of mental telepathy being responsible for Fischer's knowledge that the bomb was to be exploded on September 16th. Pope told the authorities that Fischer's mind was not normal during the three weeks he sent out warnings of the Wall Street disaster, and while in this condition his mind was in a peculiarly receptive condition enabling him to intercept thought waves of those guilty of connection with the explosion.

(By United Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Several more victims of the bomb blast died today, bringing the death total up to thirty-five.

(By United Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The New York grand jury viewed the scene of yesterday's catastrophe this afternoon. The police are concentrating on search for the driver of the wagon it is believed carried the explosive into Wall Street. The horse had been newly shod and its shoes bore identification marks which may lead to the discovery of its owners. The New York board of estimates offered a reward of $10,000 for information of those responsible for the catastrophe.

Criticizing Senator Harding for his position or non-position on the league the governor said the Republican candidate had twisted on seven different occasions and at this date nobody yet knew where he was at.

Governor Cox is a forcible, earnest talker and every word he utters has a punch to it. It is no wonder that through his love of justice, his unswerving purpose to do right and by the fulfillment of his promises to the people of Ohio that he has thrice been elected to the governorship of that great commonwealth and become its idol.

During his address Governor Cox paid splendid tribute to both Senators Henderson and Pittman, to the former for his constructive work as regards Nevada, and to the latter for the qualities of statesmanship he developed in helping to handle the affairs of America in the recent trying periods of government.

explosion.

(By United Press) HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 17.—Fischer, who is being held here as a suspect, is a former metropolitan tennis champion, and is said to have once been Jack Dempsey's sparring partner.

ALABAMA COAL FIELD UNDER MARTIAL LAW

(By United Press) MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 17.—Brigadier General Steiner with his staff left for Birmingham today to establish temporary headquarters for six companies of militia. He expects to take over the coal fields this afternoon. Troops will be posted at several mines now under threat of violence in the coal strike activities.

(By United Press) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17.—While three companies of Alabama national guardsmen were being posted in the mine area here today, reports were received that two negro strike breakers had been shot and severely wounded, and a third was missing in a new outbreak.

MACSWINEY VERY LOW; WIFE'S STRENGTH FAILS

(By United Press) LONDON, Sept. 17.—The latest reports this morning were to the effect that Terrence MacSwiney, hunger striking lord mayor of Cork, is now exceedingly weak. His wife's strength has deserted her and she was forced to give up her vigil at his bedside.

(By United Press) PARIS, Sept. 17.—Premier Millerand today submitted President Deschanel's resignation to the cabinet. The cabinet announced that the national assembly will choose his successor next Tuesday at Versailles.

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The census bureau has announced the population of Tulare county, Calif., as 59,031, increase of 23,591, or 66.6 per cent. Also Pershing county, Nev., 2,803. No comparison is available on former census owing to division of the county.

EAGLES BUILDING NEARS COMPLETION

Work on the Eagles hall is progressing rapidly, as the roof has been completed and lathing and plastering the interior is under way. While there is yet a lot of finishing to be done, some idea of the interior can be obtained with the building in the rough.

The main lodge room will be one of the finest in the state as it is 31x65 feet. The banquet room on the same floor is 17x44, while plenty of closets, lockers and other conveniences are provided.

The Eagles are to make the club room on the lower floor the big attraction, as this will practically occupy the entire ground floor. A concrete floor is to be laid in the lower story and everything a club desires will be furnished, except the wets that used to go the rounds. The building is one of the credits to greater Carson.

LEGION TO BUY HOME

At a meeting of the American Legion last night it was decided by the local post to build or purchase a home in Tonopah.

A building which will accommodate a floor suitable for dances and also club rooms for both the Legion and the Auxiliary is contemplated. Definite plans have not yet been consummated. Preliminary arrangements are in progress.—Tonopah Times.

Talks to Followers of Hiram Johnson

Cox States Purpose of 'Big Interests' to Use Them

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—Speaking in the home city of Senator Hiram Johnson, Governor Cox today predicted that if the "reactionary senatorial oligarchy gains control of the government in this campaign it will so manipulate the power of patronage that the Progressive Republicans will soon be compelled to join another party or form one of their own." He said further that if Progressive Republicans, "inclining naturally to the idealism of Lincoln and Roosevelt" were to stay in the party they would be compelled to "surrender to the official representatives of big business."

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—Governor Cox in his speech here today said, "I am unable to see by what process of reasoning a political party, which has given Boss Barnes the distinct status of leadership in this campaign, can expect Progressive friends of Roosevelt and Johnson to give it support."

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—Regarding Senator Johnson, Governor Cox today said: "He and I do not agree on international policies, but I respect him for his candor. His words tell you plainly his mental attitude and he speaks without ambiguity or hypocrisy."

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—Governor

or Cox, referring to the Japanese problem here today, declared that as president of this great republic he "will see to it that the rights of California are not interfered with. I believe I know the rights of states under our constitution. I expect to amplify my views tonight in San Francisco."

(By United Press) During the past ten days the local merchants have been short on sugar. The reason assigned is the unsteady market and wholesalers refusing to buy in quantity, thus trimming the local jobbers accordingly.

It is stated that one Reno firm lost 1,800 on a carload, as a drop came between the purchase and delivery.

It is expected the sugar market will get down to a solid basis shortly, when the housewife will be able to stop her worrying of the home merchant.

Edith Hallor Tonight "Children of Destiny"

A duel in the great hall of an Italian villa is one of the unusual situations in "Children of Destiny," a powerful screen drama of modern life, which will be seen at the Carson City theater tonight for the last time. Edith Hallor is the star and William Courtleigh, famous stage player, supports her in a role that, although unconvincing, gives him an opportunity to show he is a real actor.

The story of "Children of Destiny" is from the pen of Sydney Rosenfeld, famous playwright, who gave the stage many strong dramas. It was prepared for the screen by the late Cyrus Townsend Brady. As a stage play it ran for several months in New York city.

The theme concerns heredity and tells the story of a woman who, when she finds her husband a brute, turns for consolation to another man who really loves her. Of course she finds it, and a child is born to them although the woman still lives with her husband, a hopeless paralytic. It is around this child, a daughter of destiny, that the rest of the story is woven. How she finds out her position in life and what follows, forms an interesting drama full of suspense and not without its thrills.

Wonderful photography, elaborate scenes and a wealth of detail are said to make this picture one of the most interesting that has been seen here this season. Come and enjoy "Children of Destiny" with us. We'll expect you. This is a nine-reel show at the usual prices of 10 and 25 cents. Edith Hallor in six large reels of "Children of Destiny." Fourteenth episode of "Adventures of Ruth," featuring Ruth Roland. It will sway you; it will put you on edge; it will hold you enthralled with its spine tingling thrills. Mutt and Jeff. Two shows, beginning at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.
